CAPTURE BANDIT AFTER HARD FIGHT

One of Chicago's Most Resourceful Criminals Caught by Police.

Chicago February 14 .- Robert Webb, automobile bandit and slayer of Policeman Peter Hart, was captured here to-day after a revolver battle and a desperate hand-to-hand struggle, in which the highwayman was clubbed into submission by a half dozen police-

An alert telephone central operator caught the webb teld the woman to bring $300 to a certain street corner so he could leave the city. A hundred officers were soon scattered around the neighborhood, and a few minutes before the appointed hour Webb was seen walking toward the rendezyns. Two determs g toward the rendezvous. Two detectives started after him. Webb saw the officers and ran into a building and out the back way. He was seen by other police, and the wating officers took up the chase. Many shots were

Throughout the night Ambassador Wilson's dispatches on the progress of the conflict in the streets of the Mexican capital continued to pour into the State Department. These messages all had been filed before the abdication of Madero, and confirmed details of the closing engagements between the Madero and Diaz forces. These belated messages drew only casual interest from officials, who waited until late into the night for word from the ambassador of the fall of the Madero regime.

Buildings within rifle range of the rebel positions sheltered machine guns and infantry, while heavy detachments massed in the streets approaching the positions from the east and west.

When the government forces began this attack, both the cannon and small arms of the rebels sprang into quick action. In two minutes the city was listening to a new note in the long.

action. In two minutes the city was listening to a new note in the long symphony of battle. The heavy crashing of artillery to which the inhabitants had become accustomed, was toned down by the rattle of ride and machine gun fire.

How many fell in this engagement cannot be told, but the number productedly was large.

Occasionally shells from the Federal battery at the station fell with accuracy in the big plaza in front of the arsenal. Little damage was done to the structure itself.

The Federals were at a disadvantage, because they were compelled to advance, and to do so they had to leave their shelter and crowd down the streets.

Search and Seizure Bill Passed by House on Third Reading.

[Special to The Times-Dispatch.] Raleigh, N. C., February 14.—The discussion of the Weatherspoon search and selzure bill, that proceeded for one hour this afternoon, was resumed by the House to-night with intensified Interest. Mr. Bowie opened against the bill, declaring for the protection of the homes from invasion for search and seizure. Mr. Carlton urged an amendment to exempt private homes from the operation of such a law. Mr. Grier argued the constitutionality of the bill, which had been attacked by Mr. Bowie.

Mr. Kellum argued that the bill would have the effect of harassing innocent people. He opposed especially section 2, limiting the amount of liquor that can be kept to one gallon. He feared, too, that citizens would be deprived of right of trial by jury. Nunerous lawyers took the ground that Mr. Kellum's fears were unfounded, since trial by jury was the right of all citizens.

Mr. Doughton speke for the bill, saying that he had been uncertain as to just what position to take, but that with certain amendments that had been uncertain amendments that had been bill independ the bill. accepted, he heartily indorsed the bill. He found the rights of all good citizens amply protected in the bill under the Constitution. Mr. Stewart, of Mecklenburg, spoke for absolute pro-hibition in favoring the bill. He wants everybody's liquor to be cut off in North Carolina.

Mr. Miller, of Cleveland, argued that the moral sentiment for the bill was overwhelming in the State, and that the legislators must recognize and grant the relief demanded for enforcement of prohibition. Mr. Stewart offered an amendment to cut out druggists as allowed to handle liquor. Mr. Wills offered an amendment of the state of the Mills offered an amendment to strike out the provision against banks handling drafts with bills of lading attach-

Mr. Williams, of Buncombe, in closing the argument for the advocates of the bill, challenged the sincerity of Mr. Murphy, declaring that he could but beware of the Greeks when they come bearing gifts.
